THE AMERICAN PROTECTIVES

President Traynor Gives an Idea as to the Order's Objects.

A MENACE TO CORRUPT PARTIES.

The Power of the American Protective Association, Says Its President, Lies in the Fact That It is Allied With No Political Party.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The most noteworthy feature of yesterday's session of the American Protective Association was the innovation made by giving to the public the annual address of President W. J. H. Traynor. While some parts of the document were issued by a special committee, the body of it gives more authentic information upon the purposes of the order than has ever before been made public upon authority.

President Traynor deals at great length with the political phases of the A. P. A. He says:

"The American Protective Association is today a recognized factor in American politics, whose favor is openly courted by political leaders, organizers and postulants for public office, who a year or two ago ignored or denounced it."

He warns the order against eleventh hour converts, and says:

"The A. P. A. is a standing menace to the perpetuity of every party, being composed, as it is, of the members of every party. So long as it remains unmoved by the threats, unyielding to the pressure of party machines, it will be hated, but respected by every party which dares not incorporate the platform of the order in its own. The great majority of our order have waited patiently during the past year for some sign from one or the other of the political parties that it has received a change of heart that it is honest enough to publicly express."

"There are a few Republicans, such as Linton of Michigan, Gear of Iowa, Bradley of Kentucky and Stone of Missouri, who have been fearless in their endorsement of our principles, and while it may be fortunate that they are Republicans, it is more than unfortunate that they are not either the Republican party or representatives of that body, and the question should be asked and answered here and now that while the A. P. A. is of those men is tolerated by the party for the A. P. A. votes which each of them carries behind him, what assurance have we that this toleration will not cease the moment the votes have been delivered?"

The president expresses regret that the A. P. A. has in some states been used by party machines. He discourages any attempt to secure the nomination of a member of the order for the presidency by either party.

Referring to the advisory board, which created a sensation by its attack upon McKinley, he says:

"A source of prospective danger is the national advisory board as it is at present constituted. In its present form it is in danger at any time of coming into violent collision with the supreme executive board, which is the supreme council out of session, and undoubtedly the superior of all other boards. At present it recognizes no superior but the supreme council in session, and may pursue one policy, while the supreme president and his cabinet pursue one entirely opposed to it." President Traynor suggests that the powers of the board be specifically named.

"A well meaning, and by no means unimportant section of the order has arisen, which advocates peace with the priest and the members of the order. Some would even go so far as to negotiate with them politically, than which nothing could be more dangerous to the perpetuity of the association. Others go so far as to take the position that a member of the order possesses the right to determine for himself the question of the loyalty or disloyalty of any papist postulant for office, and reserves to himself the right to persuade others to vote for said papist. Such a contention is not only absolutely untenable, but highly dangerous. The candidate voluntarily renounces the right of private judgment in this essential when he becomes a member of the order."

Mad Dog on the Rampage.

JERSEY CITY, May 15.—A mad dog ran through three towns of North Hudson county yesterday, and before his career was ended had bitten no less than thirteen persons. All of them will be treated at the Pasteur Institute in New York. He ran his course through West Hoboken, Union Hill and North Bergen. Most of those bitten were children. In West Hoboken the dog attacked a party of children, one of whom, 8 years old, was badly torn about the arm. In North Bergen a young man succeeded in hitting him with a club, and he was finally shot.

Gloomy Impressions in Havana.

MADRID, May 15.—Gloomy impressions reign in Havana as to the prospects for military operations, and reinforcements of twenty battalions are deemed indispensable, because the local volunteers do not respond to the call to arms, with the coming of the rainy season. Several filibuster expeditions have landed war materials on various parts of the island lately. The insurgents are credited with an intention of renewed activity during the approaching unhealthy season.

Charged with Heavy Defalcation.

READING, Pa., May 15.—Late yesterday afternoon two warrants were served on Frank P. Lauer, issued at the instance of his brother George F. Lauer, charging him with appropriating several hundred thousand dollars of the funds of the Lauer Brewing company. The accused gave $5,000 bail for court. He denies the charge. The troubles between the Lauer brothers have been ventilated in court a number of times.

CHILDREN CAUSE ALARM!

Five of Them Deserted Their Homes in Town Yesterday.

THEY FOLLOWED THE GYPSIES!

Lost Track of the Tribe and Walked All the Way to Pottsville via a Dangerous Route—Police Returned Them Home To-day.

Five small boys occasioned more excitement in town last night than a high priced benevolent theatrical company, or an old-fashioned circus could raise in a week. They left their homes early yesterday morning and failed to report for meals or anything else. The boys were James Gibson, aged 8 years, residing on North White street; Joseph Yusinski, 10 years and residing on East Lloyd street; John Davis, of West Huckleberry alley, aged 13 years; and Alex. and Joe Janjuck, aged respectively 8 and 7 years and residing on West Huckleberry alley.

The general excitement was occasioned at about half past eight o'clock in the night, when the absence of the boys became known and a supposition on the part of some people that the boys had been drowned in one of the reservoirs on the mountain gained circulation as a fact. One report was to the effect that the boys had been drowned in the small reservoir at the north end of Main street from which the sprinklers get their supply; another report designated the small dam on the mountain used by the Kehley Run colliers, and a third fixed a reservoir at the end of one of the Indian Ridge colliery rock banks as the place of drowning. Several members of the Rescue Hook & Ladder Company spent two hours in fishing in the two first named reservoirs with grappling hooks and in making a search of the surroundings, but at ten o'clock returned to town with the report that no boys could have been drowned in the places. It was unnecessary to drag the other place, as employees of the colliery were confident that no boys had visited the reservoir yesterday.

Almost everybody seemed unprepared until attention was called to the fact that a band of gypsies that had been camped on Locust Mountain moved towards Mahanoy City yesterday morning. Charles T. Gibson, father of one of the missing boys, also alleged fears with his statement that his boy, with others, followed a funeral to Pottsville about a year ago and returned the next day, through the courtesy of the police force of that town. Young Gibson, by the way, comes in for most of the blame for the excitement created. He is a brother of "Billy" Gibson, who figures so prominently in Pottsville pugilistic circles, and evidently partakes of the same untamed disposition.

The mother of the Janjuck boys was one of the most distressed parents, and her husband almost suffered equally. They were willing to sacrifice almost anything to recover their children, and their anguish aroused general sympathy. Somebody circulated the report that the boys had been seen early in the day with the gypsies on the mountain. Janjuck sought the aid of Justice Corbin and he gave a warrant to Constable Bolin with instructions to follow the gypsies and see if they had the children. Telephone communication led to the information that the gypsies who left Locust Mountain yesterday passed through Mahanoy City yesterday and a band of gypsies had pitched tents at Frackville. Upon receiving this information Mr. Janjuck hired a wagon and team at O'Hara's livery stable and, accompanied by Constable Bolin and two reporters, drove to the gypsy camp. It is located near the head of the grade. The tribe is a large and apparently well-to-do one of English extraction and boasts of the ownership of fourteen head of horses. It was after one o'clock this morning when the posse arrived at the camp. The night was dark and only the barking of the dogs afforded guidance to the tents and wagons. It was with difficulty that the visitors kept beyond the limits of the dog chains. The dogs were almost as numerous as the trees of the grove. Gypsies are not like the Indians and Indian hunters we read about in "Al. Always Hit" and such border tales. The Pennsylvania "gyp" sleeps like the majority of the human race, with both eyes and ears closed. Constable Bolin is as hoarse as a colt in consequence of the barking he was obliged to resort to. After many protestations and expressions of indignation the camp was thoroughly searched, but no trace of the boys could be found. A trip was then made to Mahanoy City, but it was likewise fruitless and the party returned to town tired and disappointed.

The five boys reached Pottsville late last night, having walked all the way from Shenandoah and walked through the long railway tunnel at St. Clair en route. The police stopped them in and this morning G. E. Policeman Daniell and John Higgins brought the boys back to town and delivered them to their respective parents. The boys say they followed the gypsies some distance and lost track of them, whereupon they decided to continue their journey to Pottsville. The receptions accorded the boys at their homes was so enthusiastic it is not likely that they will ramble far away again for some time.

McKINLEY'S RUNNING MATE. The Ohioan's Managers, It is Said, Favor General Horace Porter.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The McKinley leaders who have recently visited New York in such large numbers had another object in view, says The Herald, besides the checking of the growing demand for a positive declaration from McKinley on the money question. This was nothing less than the selection of a running mate for McKinley. There have been rumors since the canvass for the nomination began that the vice presidency had been offered to this or that man in return for his influence in favor of McKinley's nomination. The names of those who have been mentioned for the office would make a long list. The only avowed candidate, however, is Garret A. Hobart, of New Jersey.

The choice of the McKinley managers has fallen upon General Horace Porter as the man who they think is best qualified to make New York safely Republican. Though General Porter has never held office and has hitherto declined to become a candidate, he will not refuse the second place on the ticket with McKinley. General Porter and Major McGilley are warm personal friends, and it is well known that such has a sincere admiration for the other.

KILLED AT BASE BALL.

A Boy Killed by a Blow From a Base Ball at Lost Creek.

Joseph, the 11-year-old son of Austin Brindshaw, of Lost Creek, was almost instantly killed yesterday by a ball batted in a base ball game at that place yesterday. The boy was struck on the neck by a foul ball and died within five minutes. The parents are almost heartbroken over the affair, as the boy was a very interesting child and was held in high esteem by all acquaintances.

We have the newest novelties in fine silk neckwear at regular selling prices. At the Up-to-date hat store, 15 East Centre street.

Stabbed Twice. William Glutkosky caused the arrest of Joseph and Fanny Golsky last night for assault and battery with intent to kill. Glutkosky was stabbed in the back and twice in the head. None of the wounds were of a serious character, however. The accused were put under $1,500 bail by Justice Lawlor for trial at court. The suit is the result of a quarrel following a fit of jealousy. Joseph Golsky claims that while he was at work in the mines Glutkosky put rat poison in his coffee can and that the object of the poisoning was to get him out of the way, so that Glutkosky could marry Mrs. Golsky.
